

Take Control of Freight Management in M3

Meridion has developed a solution for M3-customers in logistics that need a more efficient freight booking process and increased control of their freight purchases. The solution is based on the new M3 module Freight Cost Management and standardized Mashup technology in M3. This has been integrated into Unifaun's market-leading service for Delivery Management.

Integrated shipping process

An integrated shipping process provides increased control and cost savings.

Booking and follow-up of shipping is handled based on a mashup view in M3. From there you can automatically book transports and print shipping documents through the integration to Unifaun.

With the built-in integration to Unifaun's Delivery Management service, you get access to all the modes of transport you use, regardless of who the carrier is. The solution gives you direct access to all your carriers and the opportunity to automate your freight bookings directly from M3, without manual input between the business system and the carriers' booking services.

The solution creates separate purchase orders for freight in M3 with a reference to the customer delivery. This allows you to easily match the freight invoice against the correct freight purchase. You also get full control over how you should calculate any shipping surcharges to the customer, based on the shipping purchase price.

A collaboration between Meridion AB and Unifaun AB.
